B. GOALS AND PURPOSE

The goals and purpose of the World Community for Christian Meditation (the Community) are:

1. To communicate and share the teaching and practice of Christian meditation throughout the world, which practice leads to an ever-deepening union with the living Christ and the practical caring for all members of the human family and an ever-increasing respect for the interdependence of all creation.
2. To support and sustain individual Christian meditators by making available to them whatever will encourage and nurture them in the living tradition of Christian meditation.
3. To develop a sense of community among Christian meditators by encouraging the formation of meditation groups at the local level and of regional and national groupings as appropriate. In this regard the link with the monastic tradition, particularly the Benedictine, is highly valued and new forms of community life, such as the oblate community, will also be encouraged.
4. To foster and guide dialogue and meditation among Christians of all denominations as well as with representatives of the contemplative communities of other religions and sacred traditions.
5. To organize events such as the annual John Main Seminar to broaden and deepen the teaching of Christian meditation, to work for peace and to provide a forum for dialogue at the international, national, regional and local levels.

C. OPERATING PRINCIPLES

The following principles will inform all the activities of the Community and its constituent bodies and components:

1. It will be inclusive of all those who practice Christian meditation as taught by John Main.
2. It will operate in a democratic and consultative fashion and affirm the equality of all members and its governing structure will be accountable to the membership in the conduct of its affairs.

3. To the extent possible its decisions will be arrived at on a consensus basis rather than on a routine majority-voting basis.
4. Its governing structure will strive to be reflective of the geographic distribution of the Community's membership and of gender considerations in its composition.
5. It will encourage and respect the autonomy of individual groups, meditation centres, national councils and national coordinators in the conduct of their affairs. It is expected also that these persons and bodies will remain in communion with the spirit of the Community, will abide by its Constitution and will follow the guidance provided from time to time by the Community's Director and Guiding Board.

D. THE COMMUNITY

The Community is composed of a number of elements as follows:

1. Member is a person who practices Christian meditation particularly as taught by John Main and is recognized by the Community as following the faithful expression of his teaching.
2. Group is a number of persons who meet on a regular basis to practice Christian meditation together, within a defined geographic area usually at the local or regional levels.
3. Director is the person recognized as having a particular charism in communicating the vision of John Main and is empowered by the Community and its governing structure to guide and advance the teaching of Christian meditation.
4. Teachers are persons recognized by the Community as having the knowledge and spiritual maturity to teach Christian meditation.
5. Trustees constitute the body established under the WCCM's Charitable Incorporated Organization (CIO) to pursue the mission of the Community and to oversee its legal, financial and administrative affairs as required by the laws of England and Wales. Three of the Trustees, including the Director, will be members of the Guiding Board.

6. Guiding Board (the Board) is the group of Christian meditation leaders composed in accordance with Section E.2 and charged by the Community with the responsibility of articulating a vision to sustain and share the development of Christian meditation around the world and to oversee the Community's life and growth.
7. Executive Committee is the body that oversees the operational activities of the International Office. It is appointed by the Guiding Board from among its membership and that of the Trustees and Advisory Council.
8. Advisory Council (the Council) is made up of Community members, appointed by the Guiding Board upon recommendation of the Director and Board Chair, who are prepared to lend their expertise and/or use their 'good offices' individually or jointly to advise and assist the Board and Executive Committee on various projects and initiatives as called upon from time to time to advance the mission and work of the Community.
9. School of Meditation is the specific structure within the Community that focuses on the transmission of the teaching to future generations. This 'school' will assist meditators to better accept and appreciate the spiritual gift they have received by coming to a fuller understanding of the tradition and a deepening of their spiritual life. As a result the 'school' will help meditators to personally share the teaching with others in the circumstances of their life. The 'school' will serve the Community worldwide through its national governing bodies under the guidance of the International Coordinator of the School, the Director and the Guiding Board.
10. Patrons are individuals in the Community or society at large who support and endorse the mission of the Community. Patrons are appointed by the Trustees upon recommendation of the Guiding Board and serve at pleasure.
11. International Office consists of paid or volunteer persons responsible for the ongoing affairs of the Community. It will be overseen by the Executive Committee.
